PROTECT YOUR MOST VULNERABLE PATIENTS

FACT

*Infant abductions have occurred in hospitals of all sizes and types all over the world.

FACT

Abductors plan carefully, often impersonating staff. They can even resort to violence.

FACT

Mother/infant mismatches occur in spite of the manual matching ID band system and everyone's best efforts.

Infant protection is a necessity for every hospital for the wellbeing of parents and infants. Over 1,600 hospitals worldwide count on the Hugs solution to mitigate risk while enhancing patient experience and clinician satisfaction.

Combining wireless infant tags with an intuitive software platform, the Hugs solution helps ensure that your newborns are where they should be and with the right mom.

How Hugs® Works

Protection that starts right in the delivery room. As soon as the Hugs tag is attached, the system begins supervising the baby's location and movements. All exits are monitored and a tamper detection feature alerts to unauthorized tag removal. In addition, the solution can be integrated with door security systems to secure the exit against egress.

Feature-rich but easy to use. The Hugs solution offers its advanced functionality through simple, well-designed applications with automated features, intuitive task-based software and multiple alerting options. The Hugs tag attaches in seconds and enrolls automatically, and the BabySense™ feature helps ensure the tag is secure, alerting you if the tag is too loose. Common procedures like transporting infants require just a few clicks in the software. Alarms trigger not only software alerts, but a range of responses for easy identification—from strobes to messages on Vocera badges. The end result is a solution that supports your clinical and security workflow.

Automatic and audible mother/infant matching. The Kisses® component to the Hugs solution is the perfect enhancement to matching ID bands. Babies wear Hugs tags. Moms wear Kisses tags. Everyone enjoys greater peace of mind: every time the two are brought together, the Hugs tag checks for a right match.

Choose the platform that's right for you

The Hugs solution is available in two versions. Choose the solution that best fits your hospital's clinical, business and technical needs.
